More conservative scenario

Thanks to better sales since the start of Q3, management appeared relatively positive during the analyst meeting. However, due to the mixed performance in H1, and as the economic context is expected to remain tough, we have cautiously lowered our estimates on Clasquin.

In brief

- > H1 results below estimates
- > Management more confident on H2 outlook
- > Scenario adjusted downwards
- > Promising deal in Spain

In detail

Mixed H1 performance, better sales and results expected for H2

In a tough economic context, H1 gross profit was down by 1.6% or by 4.9% excluding forex. In parallel with investments made in 2011 to develop the company business (new agencies in Germany, India, Georgia, etc.), we expected a decline in margins over the period. With an EBIT of EUR1.6m, down 35%, the performance is below our forecasts of EUR2.0m. We have underestimated the squeeze effect on margins. H1 net profit was EUR0.8m, down 44% (-23% expected). With better sales since the start of Q3, management announced activity and results for H2 significantly above H1 performance.

Forecasts cut

Due to the seasonality of the business, it is almost sure that H2 sales and results will be above H1. As we are relatively cautious about the economic context, we have lowered our gross profit estimate for 2012 from minus 3% to minus 3.5% LFL. Adding in a lower gross profit scenario and results drop in H1, we have significantly cut our results forecasts on Clasquin: minus 26% on net profit for 2012 (see Table 1 for details).

Promising deal in freight forwarding in Spain

In September (consolidated over four months in 2012), Clasquin has acquired a Spanish company specialised in freight forwarding and focused on export to Latin America and the Middle East. This operation is the first external growth in the historical business of the company, in line with the strategy announced at the IPO in 2006 (EUR4m in cash raised to finance future deals). It will add around 5% in gross margin, and we expect an accretive effect of around 10% on net profit, thanks to: 1) relatively high margins: operating result/gross margin of 23% compared with 10% for Clasquin for 2012E; 2) low price: below 5x EBIT announced, below 0.3x sales, at the lower end of the range of the sector transaction multiples (0.3x-0.5x sales). As the current managers are to remain at the helm of the subsidiary for the next three years, we judge the risk on integration as low.

TP cut from EUR22 to EUR21

Due to our new results estimates, we cut our target price from EUR22 to EUR21. Thanks to the exposure of Intercargo to a dynamic segment, and the historical exposure to Asian flows, Clasquin is expected to continue to outperform peers in the market. However, in a tough economic context, the share price could remain under pressure (sector considered cyclical), so we reiterate our Hold rating.
